SANDY'S DAILY MESSAGE

Day 5 and we now learn that not only has HRH Prince Charles contracted the Corona Virus, but also Boris Johnson. Proof indeed that no-one can escape this virus.

It's lovely to hear from more of you; all who are appreciating the daily contact via this update. Communication is obviously one of our strengths and I like to think the support we offer is too.

Remember should you need to contact us, the office is manned from 8.30am until 4.00pm, so if you need any advice, do not hesitate to contact us and we will offer help and support.

We also have an emergency mobile number that can be used - 07436 364907.

To update those of you who are waiting to receive vouchers in respect of free school meals, we hope that the scheme will be fully operational by Monday. All we are waiting for is our authority to log in and process the claims.

My next update will be on Monday, until then .....

For the good of the nation, stay safe, stay well and stay indoors!!

ACTIVITIES / LINKS THAT MIGHT BE HELPFUL

Cooking seems to be a highly popular activity at the moment. Why not make your own salt dough together, which can then be used for modelling activities.

Lucas' Mum, Claire has sent us in another useful link to access easy read icons for visuals and social stories.

WHAT'S EVERYONE BEEN UP TO?

Udi has been very busy, she is helping her Mum with the cleaning and the gardening. She also helps make lunch every day and yesterday she made cheese quesadillas. The thing that Udi is most proud about though - the fact that she now is able to put her hair into ponytails - look how pretty her hair looks!

Activities at school have been varied too, pupils are now all experts at applying hand sanitizer and soap! Some have enjoyed hearing the lorries that pass by give a special hoot when they see our rainbows - although we must be honest, some of us are not so keen to hear that noise! Naz has been working with some of the children to allay any anxieties they have and has been talking about how it is best to stay at home this weekend and how we may experience changes because we cannot go to our usual places. The children crafted some pictures of their homes with lolly sticks and felt.

Before the school day started, staff were talking about how emotional it was last night, when so many people across the country came to their doors or windows to applaud the NHS. It gave many an opportunity to shout across the neighbours to see if they were okay or needed anything. Fireworks were let off and many streets cheered and shouted thank you too. A truly emotional and heartfelt message from the public. On behalf of the Link community, we would like to publically thank those parents within our community who are critical key workers. The decisions that some of you are having to make are so selfless.
