SANDY'S DAILY MESSAGE

Another week has gone by and still the death toll from Covid 19 is not abating.

Awful times and we must all do our utmost to continue to follow the Government's advice and stay in lock down.

Until Monday stay well, stay safe and stay indoors!

Sandy

ACTIVITIES / LINKS THAT MIGHT BE HELPFUL

For our more fluent readers, First News are offering children a free digital download of it's weekly newspaper for a short while. In it's latest edition, Education Secretary, Gavin Williams thanks children for all they are doing to protect us from corona virus.

To get your copy, head to:

Olha wonders whether over the next week, anyone would like to take part in a photographic scavenger hunt? She is suggesting taking a creative photograph to represent each of these themes - the more innovative the better!

- A geometric pattern
- Something flying
- A 'can you guess what it is?' photo
- A living thing .

It would be great to see some of these photos too. Do share them with us.

For those of you who enjoyed making cards for Vajeha's project - joy@sewaday.org. We have another request, this time from Elliott Colburn, MP. He has written to Sandy, asking if some of our children could make some cards for the older people in our local community - working to bring two generations together. Archie has already made a giant sized one in a lovely bright yellow because in his words "elderly people might not have good eyesight". If you like to make one and either post or scan it to us, we will send them all in one large batch to Elliott at the House of Commons.

WHAT'S EVERYONE BEEN UP TO?

Luke enjoyed his daily outdoor exercise session today. He took Albie for a walk in the park. Luke tries to make sure he has a walk every day. What a lovely dog Albie is.

Scarlett has been keeping very busy at home and one of the things she enjoyed doing was making a smoothie.

It looks as though it could be a strawberry one and looks delicious.

She has also been helping with the washing-up - something we know will please both Lesley and our OT team. Well done for clearing up and helping Scarlett.

Lily has been very creative and has sent us a picture of a collage she has made using leaves and twigs she collected. Rebecca will be very impressed when they see this creation of a beautiful butterfly. Well done Lily.

Baking still seems to be one of the preferred activities and pupils from Hazel Class have all really enjoyed making the scones from the recipe Frances sent them.

Nana let his sister help make his scones, carefully directing her every step of the way. Mum, Felicia said they were very tasty. Watch out Paul Hollywood - there's a new kid in town!

Georgia's scones were delicious too, although her face in the photo shows how much she hated touching the gooey mixture!

Georgia is absolutely loving lockdown and wishes things could stay like this all the time!

Alfie demonstrated what a good baker he is to his sister; allowing her to help too. Frances says she is really proud of you Alfie.

But it's not all scones and baking. Lily has been making pancakes. Measuring the quantities really precisely and taking such care, we hear they were really tasty. We wonder whether she flipped her pancakes, like we do at school on Shrove Tuesday?

Lesley has sent in another recipe for you all to try - this time it is Chocolate Cookies.

You will find it attached to the newsletter.

Sean in Beech Class has made a beautiful collage under Maria's watchful eye.

He cut each shape so carefully and completed this beautiful piece of art work all on his own. We think it is beautiful Sean and you have chosen such lovely colours.

Au Revoir

Two members of our team have made the huge decision that they will be leaving us - albeit as employees - as we will make sure they keep in touch!

Carly, one of our SSAs, recently gave birth to a beautiful baby daughter and she tells us that at present, she feels she will simply never be able to leave her.

Sharon, also one of our SSAs has decided that she would like to spend more time dedicated to her family.

We will miss them both and wish them every happiness.
