SANDY'S DAILY MESSAGE

Sometimes - although not often I might add, I take a breather from the mounds of paperwork and look out of the window up to the sky. A moment of mindfulness gazing at the clouds and blue skies often provides a brief moment of calm before I start work again.

On this day in 1963, Valentina Tereshkova became the first woman to travel in space. She was launched into orbit aboard the spacecraft Vostok 6 and completed 48 orbits in 71 hours.

I wonder what it felt like? What a fantastic experience it must have been.

Now, almost 60 years later, we have private individuals being able to buy a place on a craft to travel into space. It's mind blowing isn't it.

I would like to set a task for the children today - would any of our older pupils like to write me a short story about a trip into space? Those who are more artistic could draw me a spaceship or a picture of the moon and other planets.

I would be very interested to see your work.

Sandy

ACTIVITIES / LINKS THAT MIGHT BE HELPFUL

The final worksheets for your Lockdown Projects are attached today and what lovely activities to complete the exercise. Those pupils who are able to, can write a letter to themselves about the whole experience. Those parents who have been assisting with or overseeing their child's project also have an opportunity to write to your child expressing your feelings about the whole experience. Were you particularly proud at how your child coped? Did they moan and complain a lot? Did they help around the home? Again, a lovely thing to look back on in years to come. Our thanks go to Kayleigh, Lily's Mum who sent this whole idea into us.

WHAT'S EVERYONE BEEN UP TO?

Acorn staff were very happy today, as Vinny went on the see-saw for the very first time. Kevin persuaded him to give it a go and he enjoyed it so much, we think he will be eager to have more fun on this piece of equipment in future (Vinny that is, not Kevin!)

Having seen his picture yesterday in the update yesterday, Leyland was keen to let everyone see this picture of him. Anyone who knows Leyland, know he absolutely loves dogs and so this photo is very special to him. The dog belongs to the owner of the fishing lake where he and Dad visited at the weekend.

AND FINALLY

Would it be possible for those pupils who are now attending school to bring in swimwear or shorts and t-shirts that can be used for water play or in the pool if the weather is kind to us.
